The Tower Reflects

The first days when we came to Pinkerton as sophomores—the new friends we made and the exciting experiences we have had from year to year—the many extra-curricular activities we have enjoyed—the classes and the faculty who have worked so carefully to prepare us for the future—all these and many more memories are captured on the following pages of the CRITIC.

ENGLISH

It is easy to know what special unit is being studied in English by listening to a group of students discussing the assignments. Literature, oral reports, composition, vocabulary, research papers, and grammar all add variety to the language arts program. It is necessary, in this complex world, to be able to communicate effectively either by writing or speaking, hence mastery in English is essential.

Who Have Motivated Us

MATH

Mathematics is a very important subject because we use it in our every day lives. The teachers of the math department have taken special care to see that the students learn as much as possible in the field of math. Algebra, geometry, and advanced mathematics have helped to develop our minds, and also have trained us to organize our thoughts.

SCIENCE

Because of an ever-growing demand for scientists, we have found that the students are taking their science courses more seriously than ever. Whether it is biology, chemistry, or physics, the students, under the guidance of their teachers, have probed to learn more about their environment and those elements of which it is made.

To Make Learning a

The school farm offers an excellent opportunity for the agriculture boys to gain practical knowledge. Fifty-five acres of forest, a herd of Guernsey and Holstein cattle, a flock of Dorset sheep and poultry give the chance to deal with actual farm situations.

SHOP CLASS

Music appreciation

Looking into the beautiful mysteries of classical or modern harmony during music appreciation class or learning to sing a five part song in Glee Club, sight reading music in the Band are all a part of the development of the student who has courses in the music department.

French II exhibit

This year, once again, an active interest has been in the study of foreign languages. The aural-oral approach in beginning classes brought gratifying results and it was no unusual sound to hear voices repeating in unison phrases in the language being studied. Cultural aspects were also emphasized in the form of projects, dramatizations of foreign customs, and the singing of traditional songs.

Exciting Experience.

The courses of study for the Home Economics students of today are centered around "The Family As a Unit." These courses include: family health and sanitation, feeding, clothing, housing the family, proper care of ill family members, family finance, successful management of time and energy, constructive use of leisure time, creating good family relationships and many others.

LIBRARY

The charge-out desk

HOME ECONOMICS

Junior Home Ec.

The students have taken an active part in running the library this year. The ten juniors and seniors, who make up the staff, work at the charge-out desk, type catalog cards, mend torn books, arrange college catalogues and keep a card index of those available. The students are grateful to their fellow students who have helped to make the library even more effective.

COMMERCIAL

Typing class

Typing, shorthand, bookkeeping and office practice have suddenly become very important to a certain group of students who realize that soon they will be a part of the business world. When they are ready to join the vigorous competition in business, they'll be well-prepared. This is the reason that they are now working so industriously in the commercial department.

The Tower reflects the many hours of memorable companionship we have had with our classmates at Pinkerton.

The Tower Reflects Our History

The Tower reflects our three glorious years at Pinkerton. Our first exciting experience was our initiation followed soon by the Sophomore Reception at which time Wayland Dearth was pushed around the chapel in a baby carriage. Thus we made our social debut. Enthusiastically we participated in various activities from rugged football to serene music. In May we were defeated by the upper classmen in the field day events. Class Day was a new experience for us but we marched and cheered with enthusiasm. At graduation we were proud to have three of our class receive the Elias Haskett Derby award—Bruce Raybeck, James Saloma, and David White. It had been a good year.

On our return as juniors we promptly initiated the sophomores. Later we ordered our rings and prepared for the Prom. In the spring the Thespians presented a hit play, "Onions in The Stew." We were very proud on field day when we emerged victorious over the seniors. Our year came to an end by having three girls receive prizes in the Declamation Contest: Judi Collins, Marilyn Hackler, and Marjorie Knowlton. During the festive days we helped by ushering, while our president, Earl Warren, served as marshal for the commencement activities.

Suddenly our turn had come to be seniors. We used the front steps and occupied the home rooms in the Saltmarsh Library. The first social event was the Corn Roast. Never had corn tasted so good as it did that night. Shortly after the Sophomore Reception, the football season filled us with excitement including snake dances and steak dinners. Under Miss Garland's expert direction, we had another smash hit with "Belles on Their Toes." The Critic staff, headed by Jane Moore, spent hours working on the yearbook. We had our pictures taken, were measured for caps and gowns, attended our last Prom, wrote essays, prepared Class Day parts and then it was time for exams. We attended Baccalaureate; the Senior Howl which was our last activity as a class will be long remembered. We watched the underclassmen practicing for Class Day and realized that we were the graduating class. Finally our graduation day arrived. All the wonderful times we'd shared had ended but they'll never be forgotten.

In Memorium

Jane Bailey

Although Jane had been our classmate for only a year, she had become a vital part of our class. Her versatility was expressed by her participation as captain of the undefeated field hockey team, the editor of The Tower, a member of the Junior Play cast, and the basketball team. The Class of 1961 deeply regrets the loss of our friend and classmate.

Gordon P. Jacques

Our class adviser, Mr. Jacques, helped us through the exciting and sometimes confusing first days at the Academy. The Class of 1961 was shocked at the untimely death of our popular teacher on June 26, 1959. Mr. Jacques' friendly interest and pleasant personality made him respected and admired by all.

activities

The Tower reflects the variety of activities that we have participated in during our three years at Pinkerton. Clubs, dramatics, concerts, and dances have all helped to make our days happy.

LETTERMEN OFFICERS

Frank Clay, Secretary-Treasurer; David Misiasek, Vice-President; Earl Warren, President.

LETTERMEN

The Lettermen have performed their various duties about the campus creating an atmosphere of order and harmony between the faculty and the student body. Their duties consist of keeping order in chapel, in the halls during activity period, and at the cafeteria.

A boy may earn a letter through participation in a varsity sport or he may also receive a scholastic letter if he has maintained an average above 90 and has been active in school functions during his three years at Pinkerton.

Pinkerton Letterwomen proudly serve as a liason between students and faculty. The girls receive their letters by successfully participating in the numerous activities offered at Pinkerton. Our three years have been more meaningful as we were given an opportunity to contribute our ideas and service as a working part of the student government.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Our Student Council is comprised of three members from each class who represent the needs and complaints of their respective class. The major project of the Council for the past two years has been selling sweatshirts and jackets. This has not only proved popular, but profitable as well. Mr. Hackler works hard to see that this integral part of the school functions properly.

CRITIC STAFF

Decisions, decisions

Beginning in early October the Critic Staff set to work, choosing a theme, a cover, and the layout of the yearbook. We wanted it to be different and yet to capture, in the most effective way, the highlights of our three years at Pinkerton. We wanted faces, names, and events to be as vivid as possible in the memories of those who read our yearbook.

Onions In The Stew

JUNIOR PLAY

The Junior Play was one event in our three years that we will not soon forget. Our production "Onions in the Stew" was highly successful. When we first tried our hand at acting, we were but mere amateurs and April 21st seemed a long way off. However, we discovered that as we worked diligently, the days flew, our confidence grew, and soon we were presenting our play. Everyone enjoyed the party which came after but most of all, we were proud of our junior play.

SENIOR PLAY

After many delays and one postponement, the Senior class presented on Dec. 18, 1960, the play "Belles on their Toes" with authentic costumes and a real Charleston. The delightful three-act comedy of the 20's was enjoyed by a large audience. Even the absence of a few props couldn't mar the spirit of the actors or the audience or take from us our second hit!

THE LOVELIEST NIGHT OF THE YEAR

How we anticipated the decorations, which the committee had carefully planned behind the closed doors of the chapel! We were far from being disappointed when the night finally arrived. We saw, as we entered, a beautiful room filled with hearts and streamers, and danced to the music of Jerry Kearney's orchestra. The committee had taken great care in planning our Prom, and that is why it was the loveliest night of the year.

The 1960 football squad was made up of eleven seniors, nine juniors and nineteen sophomores. The team was under the direction of Mr. Root, with Mr. Knowles coaching the back-field and Mr. Riddervold, the line.

The season started with a jolt for us as seen by the scoreboard. The Exeter game was lively and tense with Pinkerton winning by 8 to 6.

The boys who played that game will remember it vividly, as they will all the other contests of the season.

The season had its triumphs and its disappointments but the team played hard and gained experience. The seniors garnered memories to recall in later years.

Oh, shucks

This year, our players finished the season with a record of 7 wins and 7 losses. The coaches, Mr. Perry and Mr. Lints, were satisfied with the performance of the team as a whole, and especially with the senior boys—Bohn, DeBlois, Misiaszek, and Perry who all did an excellent job for the team.

Missing from the activity this year, because of illness, was the captain, William Trobec. In his absence, a captain was elected for each game. The junior varsity had a good season under the guidance of Mr. Lints, with a 12-2 record. We all hope this is an indication of next year's potential, and that the junior players will be able to produce a winning team.

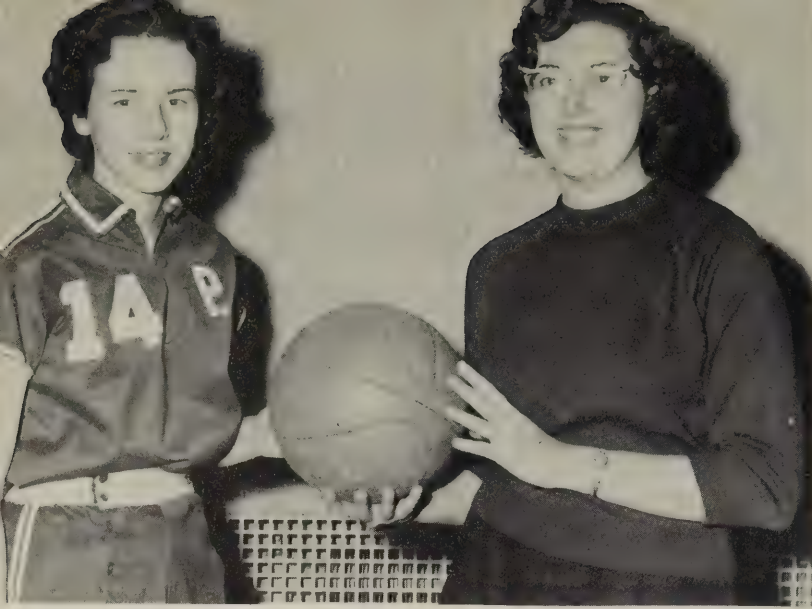

It's what's up front that counts

Jump it up, P.A.

The 1960-1961 girls' varsity basketball team, under the direction of Miss Cournoyer, Miss Roulston and Mr. A., finished their season with a record of eight wins and four losses.

Through lessons in co-operation and sportsmanship, the eventual wins and losses will be only an incidental part of the 1961 basketball memories.

The seniors will keep their new-found friends, moments of endless practice and times of tireless determination throughout the coming years.

FIELD HOCKEY

During the brisk days of last fall, our team worked diligently to improve their skills. This year for the first time in many years, our team played interscholastically. Although we won only 50% of our games, we enjoyed the competition immensely. The seniors won the class championship after many exciting games.

SOFTBALL

Each time we, the seniors, went out to win another victory, we met the challenging forces of the underclassmen. Whether it was hitting home runs, or striking out, it didn't matter; nothing interrupted the fun of playing softball.

TRACK AND BASEBALL SQUADS

TRACK AND BASEBALL

Although track is one of the newer activities at the Academy, many boys find enjoyment in the sport. The team, under the direction of Mr. Conner and Mr. Collier, has participated in a number of interscholastic meets with success. A new track was built last fall and good use was made of it this spring.

A number of boys look forward to the call of "play ball" each spring. Coach Root and Riddervold work long hours with the team to produce a successful record.

BASEBALL

Seated: D. White, E. Warren, Capt. J. Saloma, D. Misiaszek, R. Perry, W. Moher. Standing: Coach Root, J. Benway, J. Gratton, G. Levesque, D. Fitzgerald, G. Kingsbury, Ass't. Coach Riddervold.
